TIME TO PLANT NOW

THESE TWO GRAND AZALEAS

PRIDE OF MOBILE — — FORMOSA

These two leading varieties of Azaleas have earned their well known popularity, because of their hardiness—Good growing habits—Fine foliage and beautiful flowers. Both are fine landscape plants when not in bloom—But, in their blooming season, with their masses of large bright colored flowers, these gorgeous plants are breath taking in their beauty.

PRIDE OF MOBILE—(Queen of Azaleas) a hardy, strong bushy grower, large flowers of a beautiful glowing, Watermelon Pink or Red.

FORMOSA—A grand plant, hard to beat, strong upright grower, very hardy, fine dark green foliage. Very large, lavender flowers.

MACRANTHA HYBRID AZALEAS

These new and rare Azaleas with their beautiful flowers and shiny evergreen leaves are a "MUST HAVE" in every garden.

Hardiest of the evergreen Azaleas, they will withstand more severe weather conditions than other varieties.

The plants grow compact and bushy. Semi dwarf by nature, they can be used in front of other plants, in low shrubbery beds or in borders. Blooming late, usually from April through June, the flowers are large, some double, some hose in hose and some single with wavy petals — a wide range of colors.
